

Timothy C. Mosher
President and COO
Kentucky Power

Dear Friends:

Few businesses can be truly successful if they don't give something back to the people and communities that helped build them. At Kentucky Power, we have long recognized this fact and routinely support our communities and service territory residents through corporate contributions and sponsorships. In doing so, in giving back, we invest in our communities' social, educational and economic growth. In short, we help make our communities better places to live, work and raise families.

Provided in this report is a brief listing of the many notable institutions, groups and agencies we supported in 2008. At Kentucky Power, we realize our success lies within the communities we serve. Being a good corporate citizen is good business, and embracing our commitment of bringing comfort to our customers, supporting business and commerce, and building strong communities is fundamental to what we do.

Thank you for this opportunity to illustrate this commitment to you.

Sincerely,

Timothy C. Mosher
President and Chief Operating Officer
Kentucky Power

Kentucky Power is pleased to support many notable social, nonprofit, civic, educational and service organizations annually. The list below includes many, but not all, of those worthy organizations. In addition, Kentucky Power and its Big Sandy Power Plant support many other local organizations such as youth sports/activities and academic groups. We believe these contributions and sponsorships support the growth, development and enrichment of the communities we serve.

Business, Community & Neighborhood Development

Ashland Alliance
Ashland Alliance Foundation
Kentucky Chamber of Commerce
Southern Governors' Association
Southern Growth Policy Board

Educational, Developmental

Alice Lloyd College
Ashland Community & Technical College Foundation, Inc.
Big Sandy Community & Technical College
Big Sandy College Educational Foundation, Inc.
Boys and Girls Club of Lewis County
Governor's Scholars Program
Hazard Community & Technical College
Hazard Independent College Foundation
Junior Achievement of the Bluegrass, Inc.
Junior Achievement of the Advantage Valley, Inc.
KCTCS Foundation, Inc.
Kentucky Educational Television, Inc. (KET)
Leadership East Kentucky
Leadership Kentucky
Louisa Elementary Family Resource Center
Louisa Rotary Club
Newspapers in Education (NIE) Ashland, Lexington
Rotary Club of Hazard
Women Leading Kentucky

Hunger, Housing, Safety & Health

American Cancer Society
Buckhorn Children & Family Services
City of Hazard Fire and Rescue
City of Hyden
Community Hospice
Kentucky River Area Development District
King's Daughters Health Foundation
Our Lady of Bellefonte Hospital
Rally for a Cure
Salvation Army Corp. (Ashland)
Special Olympics of Kentucky
United Way of Boyd-Greenup Counties
United Way of Southeastern Kentucky

Arts, Culture & Sports

Appalachian Artisan Center of Kentucky, Inc.
Blue Grass State Games
Boyd & Greenup NAACP
East Kentucky Miners
State Community, Inc.
Hazard Community & Technical College Art Series
Highlands Foundation, Inc.
Jenny Wiley Theatre
Lawrence County Septemberfest
National Wild Turkey Federation
Paramount Arts Center
Pikeville Area Family YMCA
WYMT Mountain Classic

The American Electric Power Foundation provided funding to the following organizations in Kentucky in 2008. See the 2008 AEP Foundation annual report for more information.

University of Kentucky (Lexington)

Community MATTERS

2008 American Electric Power Community Connections Report
& Report of the American Electric Power Foundation

Kentucky Power
101 Enterprise Dr.
Frankfort, KY 40601
KentuckyPower.com

